

Behavioral Medicine Consultation

Dr. Vet. Jasmine Chevallier, DIE in Veterinary Behavioral Medicine, Behavioral Consultant

You are about to book an appointment with me for a behavioral medicine consultation.

Important: Please note that all contacts, appointment requests, confirmations, and follow-up communications are to be made exclusively by email at jas.cheval@gmail.com

How the consultation works

The behavioral consultation lasts about 1 hour. The appointment includes a clinical examination if possible, observation of your animal(s), interaction with them, and relies on the descriptions you provide of the situations encountered.

Ideally, I need to see all animals of the same species living in the household, even if only one appears to be problematic: if you have 2 or 3 dogs, please bring them all. The same applies to cats. For multi-species households, please contact me in advance to decide which animals I should meet.

Family members involved in the problem (except very young children) may attend. Your trainer is also welcome if they wish to be present.

The first consultation (assessment) allows to:

- Establish a diagnosis and understand the onset of problematic behaviors,
- Propose and explain therapeutic options, their costs, and prognosis,
- Decide on possible follow-up and, if needed, set up the first therapeutic guidelines with you for your animal.

Fees

- The price of the first consultation-assessment is €240 (incl. VAT). It includes the written report, communication with professionals involved (referring vet, trainer, etc.), and a brief follow-up by phone or email until the first follow-up appointment.
- Follow-up consultations usually take place every 1 to 3 months depending on the case, last about 45 minutes, and cost €150 (incl. VAT).
- For behavioral evaluations, the first consultation costs €260 (incl. VAT).
- The PUPPY consultation (puppy or kitten under 6 months old), whether preventive or related to an already existing issue, lasts 45 minutes and costs €150 (incl. VAT).

Preparing for the consultation

1 – Once your appointment is confirmed, please send in a single email to jas.cheval@gmail.com

- Your complete contact details: full names of owners, postal address, phone, and email.
- All access details if I am coming to your home (codes, door number, floor, etc.).
- Information about your animal(s): name, breed, weight, date of birth, ID number, name of your insurance company if you have one, and contract number if it allows direct billing.
- A floor plan of your home (drawn by hand is fine), showing layout of rooms and main furniture. Please scan and send it as a PDF file.
- The name, phone and email address of your referring veterinarian.
- The name, phone and email address of your trainer or any professional involved.
- A small photo of your animal for their file.
- If your dog has ever bitten a person, you must notify me by email before the consultation (specific legislation: L211-14-2 CRPM).
- A list of problematic behaviors and, if possible, videos of them (we will watch them during the consultation; no need to send them in advance).

2 – On the day of the consultation:

- Please arrive on time so that we can use the full appointment time.
- Bring your pet's health record, documents, and main medical history.
- Be prepared to pay by check, immediate transfer, or cash, and have your insurance form ready.
- Audio recording is possible under certain conditions (for an absent family member, for your trainer, or for yourself). Please let me know before we start.

If you cannot attend, please cancel your appointment by email.

Looking forward to meeting you soon,

Do not hesitate to contact me for any questions: jas.cheval@gmail.com
